

For Immediate Release

Media Contact:
Sarah Martin, Executive Director
\(573\) 239-0887239-0887)
info@MidwestCyber.org

Midwest Cyber Security Alliance Launches Missouri State Auditor Nicole Galloway to Speak

St. Louis, MO. (October 8, 2015) — The Midwest Cyber Security Alliance, a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization comprised of IT professionals, cyber security experts, human resource managers, attorneys and others will launch its Missouri effort at a micro-conference 2-5pm, Thursday October 15, 2015 at the Barnett on Washington.

The MCSA welcomes State Auditor Nicole Galloway, who will speak on how audits protect your personal information from cyber threats.

Jerry Gamblin, a cyber security analyst is also on the program.

Jennifer L. Rathburn, partner in the Data Privacy & Security Team of the national law firm Quarles & Brady LLP and founding member of the MCSA will speak offering recommendations on effective communication with your board of directors about cyber security issues.

"It is an absolute honor to share the podium with Auditor Galloway to address these critical issues," said Rathburn.

"The MCSA was born out of a desire to address cyber security with a multidisciplinary approach, with the knowledge that communication and collaboration is the most effective way to combat attacks on business and government. It will serve as a hub for all cyber security stakeholders, in every industry, to collaborate on current cyber threats, and cyber defenses and strategies."

About the Midwest Cyber Security Alliance

The Midwest Cyber Security Alliance (MCSA) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan collaboration of individuals, business (large and small), government entities, and professional firms advocating for more effective cyber security solutions. Additional information can be found online at MidwestCyber.org, as well as on Twitter and Facebook.